Listing Broker Compass

MALIBU ROCKY OAKS

MALIBU, CA

Sold ($13M)

Paramount Helped Secure the Listing for Compass

After a prior listing with a nationally recognized agent expired, the seller of this iconic Malibu property decided to pursue an auction strategy and began interviewing both auction firms and listing agents simultaneously. Following multiple presentations, the seller selected Paramount based on its superior auction execution strategy. For listing agent, the seller was choosing between Compass and another firm; Paramount strongly advocated for Compass—recognizing that Compass agents had originally introduced the opportunity—ultimately helping Compass secure the listing.

Auction Process Accelerated Price Discovery

The auction process rapidly aligned a multi-member ownership group around true market value, resolving a multi-year pricing challenge for a highly unique asset with limited comparable sales. The process delivered clear price discovery and resulted in a successful market-driven sale.

Economics: A True Alignment of Interests

Compass and Paramount collaborated seamlessly throughout the process. Compass earned its regular commissions, in addition to a meaningful revenue share from Paramount. The structure created a fully aligned, win-win outcome for the seller, the Compass listing agents, and Paramount.

The Compass listing agent approached Paramount after the property had been on the market for almost a year, expressing that the listing required a new strategy to generate buyer urgency and achieve a timely sale for the sellers.

Listing Broker Seven Gables

SECLUDED 5 ACRE LUXURY COMPOUND ORANGE COUNTY, CA

Sold ($7.8M)

According to the CEO of Seven Gables, within 30 minutes of engaging Paramount as Seven Gables' preferred auction partner, a top agent at the firm reached out to him to say he was working on listing a prominent property and that he thought it was a great auction candidate. The seller—a well-known billionaire who did not use the property—lived abroad and decided he wished to sell the property on a certain timeline.

The CEO connected the listing agent with Paramount, who then presented to the owner via translators, and won the assignment.

Paramount and the listing agent's team collaborated together to implement Paramount's auction-marketing and sale strategy, generating a speedy sale at market price, and on the seller's timeline—precisely what the seller sought, while Seven Gables earned its regular commission in addition to revenue-share from Paramount.

“More closely associated with pricey art or collectibles, auctions are on the rise for luxury real estate, with auction houses reporting a dramatic spike in the number of high-net-worth sellers seeking their services since 2020. Amid a slowdown in luxury home sales, auction companies are pitching homeowners on their ability to market unique properties to a range of deep-pocketed buyers beyond local markets and to sell them within a precise time frame...[CEO Misha] Haghani, who founded Paramount in 2009, said his company has seen a flood of interest from high-end sellers since the pandemic, 99% of it now inbound from homeowners approaching Paramount.”

“Buyers and sellers alike have grown more fascinated with and accustomed to the concept in order to acquire or sell properties quickly. Meanwhile, traditional real estate brokers over the past several years have become more open to luxury auctions, and, in some cases, have established concrete partnerships with niche auction houses, experts noted. ‘I don’t think that it’s the micro or the seasonality or the market conditions that is the primary driver behind this growth in momentum in this auction industry,’ said Misha Haghani, founder of New York-based luxury real estate auction house Paramount Realty USA. ‘It’s the macro—I think it’s the market acceptance of auctions as a more common method of selling assets.’”
